

Description: Radiology Report

Event Date: 31/08/2022

Exam: US Abdo & Renal tract

Report

Clinical Indications:

Few months of left side abdo/loin pains. ?any pathology.

Verbal consent obtained by: BB Chaperone: JH

Ultrasound Findings:

The liver is of normal size and outline but demonstrates a diffusely increased echogenicity in keeping with moderate steatosis. There is irregular area in segment 4 subcapsular region and anterior to gallbladder in keeping focal fatty region. No obvious focal lesion seen.

Normal antegrade flow in the portal vein.

Normal spleen length.

Left kidney shows non - obstructing calculi in the lower pole calyces largest measuring 12.6mm.

Otherwise appear normal, no hydronephrosis.

Gallbladder is normally distended with thin wall, no calculi. The CBD is of normal calibre, no intrahepatic biliary duct dilatation.

Visible portions of the pancreas appear normal (body and tail obscured by gas).